Since 2003, SecureIDNews.com has been the leading source for news and insight on the use of smart cards, biometrics and advanced ID technologies. Topics center around enterprise and government use of credential-based and digital identity programs. In the physical identity realm, we deliver industry-leading coverage of initiatives including electronic passports, PIV credentials, national IDs, mobile driver licenses, and converged corporate IDs. In the digital realm we set the bar for insight related to mobile ID, derived credentials, customer and employee identity and access management, and modern approaches to adaptive authentication and password replacement.

Our audience includes government and corporate decision makers from around the globe. Our editorial team strives to build content relevant to these card and credential issuers, as well as the relying parties who consume or accept the IDs for access and authentication transactions.

Several years ago, more than ten unique publications – each focused on an important aspect of identity, credentialing and security – were combined to form SecureIDNews. Each of these titles continues to serve their worldwide audience with compelling content and sponsorship opportunities, but now as unique “channels” at the SecureIDNews site.

SUCCESS STORY Webinar attracts 500 viewers, establishes presenter as go to source
AVISIAN helped generate massive buzz around a leading digital identity company’s initiatives and mobile driver license efforts. A pre-recorded webinar was promoted via the company’s existing ads on SecureIDNews.com, a sponsored content article at SecureIDNews, the SecureIDNews email newsletter, and the @AVISIAN twitter feed. Using only promotional elements included in the company’s Platinum sponsor package, the webinar attracted more than 500 viewers and continues to attract additional viewers each week via strong Google search results.

SUCCESS STORY Content marketing drives search traffic to advanced card tech
A leading manufacturer of secure card materials was seeking a way to increase the end issuer community’s understanding of card durability, fraud resistance and embedded security options. Via a coordinated, multi-article content development effort -- focused on key identified terms and Google-trending questions -- AVISIAN’s content marketing team built lasting quality content that ranks #1 in leading search engines. In addition to this message, the company’s product and subject matter experts also appear atop these results and are embedded throughout the content.

Results: Each day, this effort drives end issuers from around the globe to unbiased, insightful content that promotes the company’s pro-security message. Already more than 70,000 readers have been exposed to this custom messaging and the number grows daily.
